What needs to be addressed?

There is not a centralized location for developers and managers to be able to communicate over projects being worked on, see all members active on those projects, and much more.

What if

There was an application to allow developers to:

- See a list of their projects as well as have access to information on those projects
- Review analytics
- See mobile certifications
- Check out builds (versions) of their projects
- Receive alerts and notifications

And much more!

Well ... There Is One ... in Progress, of Course 😏
